FINAL EVENTS OF WICKSTEED COMPETITION

Consiglio Wins Most Points and Bronze Medal

RECORD BROKEN

Delahay Stars as Gymnast—Ambrose is Third

On Saturday afternoon in the Montreal High School Gymnasium the final events of the Wicksteed Competition were keenly contested by the various enthusiasts in this branch of college sport. Only three events remained on the list, the others having been run off on the day previous, on which occasion Delahay had established a considerable lead. This lead however was successfully overcome by Consiglio, of track fame, who was acclaimed winner of the competition by the narrow margin of 12.7 points. Delahay being placed second, Delahay deserves the greatest commendation for his excellent gymnastics, being unrivalled in the beauty and grace of his performances. His defeat was due to the superior athletic prowess of his ancient rival, Consiglio.

Consiglio established a new record in the "Standing Hop-Step and Jump" event, lowering his own record of last year by jumping 26.6 ft. Bremner followed with beautiful jump of 25.5 ft. The 160 yds. potato race required great powers of stamina and endurance, and brought forth a field of contestants who presented evident signs of distress at the end of this event. Franco Consiglio once more secured first place, covering the distance in 43.15 secs., closely followed by Bremner, who was only a second behind.

The final event was the fence vault, in which event N. J. Dacey and the versatile Consiglio tied for first place. (Continued on page 4)

QUEEN'S TO DEBATE WITH MCGILL 28TH.

Lloyd and Shepherd Will Compose Team

FIRST DEBATE

Portal and Batshaw Will Also Debate at Toronto

Thursday February 28th will be the first clash of wits and words in the intercollegiate debate. The McGill men will meet Queen's here while other McGill team will meet Varsity at Toronto. The resolution is the same in both cases and is "That the past record of the League of Nations has justified its continued existence". Here McGill will uphold the affirmative while at Toronto they take the negative. As this is the first debate of the season it is the cause of a great interest in the "JIT" circles and is sure to be hotly contested.

Lloyd and Shepherd will fight for the honour of the Red and White at the Union while Portal and Batshaw will compose the team at Toronto. These men were chosen at the elimination held last week and have all taken part in the interfaculty debates.

Lloyd ALE '26 has shown his worth in debating for his class and faculty. Shepherd has also had the same experience. Portal has been the foremost debater of Commerce. Batshaw of Law has been prominent in the "JIT" for some time. Last year he was one of the intercollegiate team. He also took part in the debate against Oxford last fall, when he showed that the Arts of Oratory and Debate were his strong suit. As well as the above debating activities all these men have taken part in the debates at the Mock Parliament.

Mr. Macdonald, Mr. Walter Merrell, and the Rev. Dr. Duncan of St. Andrew and St. Paul have consented to act as judges. These men are well known at McGill. Mr. Macdonald, it can be remembered acted as a judge at the Oxford McGill debate.

The subject "That the past record of the League of Nations has justified its continued existence" has been the cause of a great amount of discussion of late and many varied opinions are held on the subject. It is therefore bound to be of great interest to all, who are interested in international affairs. The tickets for the debate are twenty-five cents and are on sale at the Union Ticket Shop.

MANDOLIN-BANJO CLUB AT PALACE

Will Play Special Selections on Wednesday Night

The Mandolin and Banjo Club of McGill has accepted an offer of Mr. Holsky of the Palace Theatre, and will play a number of special selections at the Wednesday night performance of the above Theatre. These numbers will include solos, popular music, and old marches and songs long remembered by Collegians old and young.

"McGill-Nite," as the evening is generally called, has in the past proved an occasion for much hilarity and general good feeling. At both of last year's performances a strong college atmosphere prevailed and the various numbers were rendered to an appreciative, if somewhat noisy, audience. The house on both occasions was full and the club wishes to apologize to the many theatre-goers who were obliged to accept standing room only on St. Catherine St.

ELECTRICALS TO DINE IN GRILL ROOM

First Luncheon of the Club

MR. GREGORY

Talk on Problems of "Power Sales"

The Electrical Club will break into a new sphere of activities to-day when they hold a luncheon in the Grill Room of the Union at 11.15 p.m. sharp. Mr. Gregory of the Shawinigan Water and Power Co. has been secured as the speaker and he will give a short and interesting talk on "Power Sales."

Mr. Gregory is an old McGill man and has been associated with the Shawinigan Co. for some time, acting as assistant to Julian C. Smith. He is an authority on his subject and has promised to explain the various factors that enter into the generation and sale of power on a large scale. This is a subject that is not covered in lectures in either the third or fourth year and this talk is the result of a growing desire among the members for some knowledge of the business end of the electrical industry. He has promised to steer clear of tiresome statistics except insofar as to explain any special points that may come up.

Coupled with a speaker of such note and ability is an excellent bill of fare provided by the celebrated Pierre, which combination is guaranteed to induce a current of interesting thought and good cheer in the most reluctant body. Added to this will be a large volume of tuneful harmonies, generated and distributed in synchronism by a well known electrical measurements demonstrator, Mr. Adney, who has kindly consented to be present. The staff will also be well represented and last but not least will be the

Class Representatives Still Have Few Tickets for Dance

In a few short days' time the museum and halls of the New Medical Building will be artistically disguised with a gorgeous blending of colours, flowers and plants for the Annual Medical At Home to be held on Friday February the twenty-ninth at nine o'clock. Mr. Lemieux of Goodwin's Ltd. has very kindly offered to take charge of the decorating, and with the various recesses throughout the edifice, the sitting-out retreats will give ample scope to the decorator to mass the coloured drapery and evergreens with striking effects.

Cloutier's orchestra has been engaged for the evening, and with the high brand of dance-music promised, the floors of the museum will be taxed to capacity from the opening strains of music till the last number. Supper will be served in the off-time "Chamber of Horrors"—the Assembly Hall. Pierre of the Union Cafeteria has his staff working overtime preparing dainty morsels of pastry and the like to refresh the revellers.

MONTREAL, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1924.

THINK THIS OVER

The semi-annual meeting of the Students' Society is scheduled for March 19th, a little more than three weeks away. But this does not mean that undergraduates must not start to think about the business which will be conducted at this gathering of the Society. Rather does it mean that there is all too little time left for the thorough consideration and sincere deliberation of the affairs of the student body, for surely everything is not perfect and there is not the slightest doubt that betterment is needed in certain branches of activity.

Personally we might make one or two suggestions regarding unfortunate practices—such as the mismanaged and somewhat petty methods of initiation—but there is one matter which has been brought to our attention and it is with this only that we wish to deal at present. There are four organizations which come under the jurisdiction of the Society and to which every undergraduate has a right to belong, namely the Rooters' Club—better known as the Thundering Thousand—the Literary and Debating Society, the Canadian Club and the Musical Association. These are undergraduate clubs headed by students, but as far as we can remember, a chief executive of any one of these groups has never been elected by general vote. And now it has been suggested that this be done. The only wonder is that the proposed system did not come into vogue many years ago, for the projected idea is simple, possesses a very strong element of justice, and if it is brought into force, should forever do away with certain evils, both actual and latent.

In the first place the heads of the Rooters' Club and the Musical Association are chosen, as far as we can ascertain, by systems of appointment, that for the former being especially uncertain. By this method good men are often overlooked, are never even given a chance. If you have a friend, a frat, brother, or a club mate in office, you may have a chance but if not—well, your prospects are not bright. This evil, it must be admitted, is largely unintentional and sometimes works for good. But it is nevertheless an evil and it is with us.

In the second place, the presidents of the Canadian Club and the Lit. and Debate are elected at general meetings. This sounds perfectly all right, but those who have attended these "general meetings" know just what is liable to happen. The gatherings are usually small and there are present the dangers of an undue clique influence, of "railroading" and of "packing." These have not been in evidence to any extent this year but they have been seen in action in the past and they are all too liable to appear again in the future unless they are forestalled. The method of general election by ballot should be effective.

And in conclusion, as far as we can see, there is not the slightest doubt regarding the unpleasant possibilities of the present systems. Heads of several of the organizations mentioned above have already expressed themselves very strongly in favour of the proposition, and members of the Council and other executives are attempting to ascertain the trend of opinion. The matter will be up before the Society but in the meantime think it over. We have expressed ourselves but we are by no means infallible and if you have opinions favourable or otherwise, and desire to state them you are urged to do so. We might suggest that the Correspondence Column is a very suitable medium.

CONDENSED COMMENT

For the fifth time in succession the McGill mermen have won the intercollegiate water polo title, taking the series from Toronto Varsity by a total score of ten to one. In their home tank the Blue and White swimmers made a gallant attempt but it was impossible for them to overcome the nine goal lead, which the Red and White established two weeks ago. The McGill team, besides holding the Intercollegiate title, also hold the Dominion championship and the players, coached by Mr. Vernot, are to be congratulated upon their successes.

Queen's and McGill divided the honors in the week-end of sport, the visitors winning the basketball and the Red and White taking the victory on the ice. It is to be regretted that the basketball title has left McGill after a two year's stay here but it is to be hoped that next season will witness the return. The final match between Toronto and Queen's will be good. McGill hockey-ists finished the intercollegiate season brilliantly and their win on Saturday night was well deserved. Although the team did not win the title it made an excellent bid for the honours and if the players start next season in nearly the form they finished this, their chances for the title will be good.

INDOLIN-BANJO CLUB

AT PALACE

The orchestra, as it will appear on Wednesday, will probably consist of 25 men, and will include the following instruments: about 10 mandolins, several banjos, saxophones, cornets, 1 trombone, clarinets, and a cello and a xylophone. In the march numbers special attention will be paid to the mandolins as the rhythmic beat of these instruments is particularly suited to martial music, whilst in the popular numbers the saxophones and xylophone will be featured. The last practice of the club was of a most successful character and if it is a fair forecast of what may be expected Wednesday night, all those who attend the show are assured of a jolly evening.

Hello, Mose—How long you-all 'n trombones, clarinets, and a cello and a xylophone?
Three weeks.
What did you do?

INTERMEDIATE "B" DEFEATED N.A.A.

Juniors Vanquished by Fast Excelsior Team

On Saturday evening the McGill Intermediate Basketball team "B" defeated the N.A.A. quintette.

The game was clean all the way through, so that Jack Leonard, the head out. The McGill team had better combination than the Nationals and the play was quite flashy throughout. The N.A.A. are improving rapidly, and considering that this is the first year for them in basketball circles, a strong team is expected from them next year. Each man played the game well and at half time the score was 9-7 for McGill. The N.A.A. could not stand the pace in the second half and the score ended 17-10.

Nucko was the star for the Nationals, whilst Butler, Tinkess and Spitzer played well for the Red and White.

The McGill Juniors were not so fortunate in their game against the Excelsiors, losing by the score of 27-11.

The game was very fast, despite the fact that the Excelsiors had no substitutes. Many fouls were called on McGill's opponents due possibly to the tired condition of Excelsior from lack of reserves. The showing made by the Red and White, however, did not require their opponents to have substitutes.

Statner and Henry were good for McGill, with Kruger and Meyers for Excelsior.

Queen's Superior Shooting Mainly Responsible for Their Victory With a 43-24 Score—Both Squads Displayed Speed and Combination—Haslam, Hunter and Jones Lead the Tri-colour Attack While Manson Was Outstanding for McGill—Queen's Now Tied With Varsity

Playing hard and fast basketball and stepping into their opponents right up to the final whistle, the Red and White Seniors were overcome by the Tri-colour on Saturday, mainly because of the superior shooting of the invaders. The final score read 43-24. It was the first basketball game that Queen's have ever won in Montreal.

Both teams kept up a terrific pace through two full periods, and play went up and down the floor at a speed which made the game a treat to watch. The combination of both quintettes was good and for speed and team-work there was little to choose between the two. McGill had the play in Queen's territory a good part of the time, but the Tri-colour had the edge in shooting and their great forwards piled up a commanding score while the Red and White shots were going wide. The Queen's men generally had a noticeable advantage in height and reach which meant much, particularly in mix-ups at the baskets.

By their victory Saturday, Queen's advance into first place in the league standing alongside Varsity. Each have won three games and lost one. A play-off will be necessary to decide the championship.

The visiting forwards, Haslam and Jones, lived up to advance notices. They were fast and sure shots. Above all they worked together wonderfully. The great reach of the lank tri-colour centre, Hunter, was the despair of the shorter McGill men. He tossed in basket after basket from underneath and made some fine shots from away out. These three men were outstanding for Queen's with Hannon, the stellar Tri-colour guard not far behind.

Every man on the McGill line-up played well in what was the team's last regular game of the season. Manson at centre was particularly good. The famous Boss turned in his best performance of the year. He was all over the floor at once and in on every play.

Philpotts' shooting was easily the best for McGill. "Phil" sent in some beautiful, clean shots and rightly deserved his place as leading scorer for the Red and White, with four baskets and two free throws. Manson ranked next with two and two.

The hardest worker on the floor was Blumenstein. The little defence man went at top speed throughout the game and made McGill's final score on a free throw. It was a treat to see the way he stepped into the big Queen's players.

Busy Mendelsohn, McGill's captain and right forward, was going at his best, leading the Red and White combination plays and adding two points to the score on a good shot from well out.

Stanley Quackenbush played a fast game featured by his fine passing. In the first period he carried off the scoring honours for his team with two baskets and one penalty shot. In

Intermediate "A" Team Beaten on Saturday

SCORE 16-10
Final Westmount Rally Overcame Red and White Squad

After being outscored in the first period 5-2, the Intermediate "A" basketball team came back strong in the second and evened things up only to fall before a final Westmount rally, and finish six points down in the intermediate "A"—Westmount game which preceded the senior fixture at the M. A. A. A. gym on Saturday. The final score was 16-10.

The Red and White defeat was due largely to their inability to score on free throws. Out of twelve penalty shots, not one was sent through the hoop.

James played an outstanding game for the university quintette. He was fast, worked well with his teammates, and his shooting was always dangerous. He scored McGill's only basket in the first period and counted again in the second. Koff, the Red and White centre, scored twice on perfect shots from well out. McGill's other basket was made by Schwartzman.

In the opening minutes of play the whole Westmount team went to the attack. McGill was unable to break away and had two free throws scored against them. James evened the count when he tore down the floor, intercepted a Westmount pass and made his shot. As the game progressed both teams displayed some good combination. Play went back and forth with Westmount having the edge. After a good many shots had gone wide, Twirk took a pass under-near the basket and scored. Another penalty shot brought Westmount's total to five while up to half-time James basket had given the Intermediates their only points.

McGill got away fast in the second and the Red and White forwards started a determined attack. However Westmount opened the scoring when Hastings counted on a long shot from near centre. McGill came back strong and James sent one through. Soon after he again took the ball down, sent it across to Schwartzman, and the guard scored. At this point the Red and White were showing up well. They were going fast and their combination was good.

Westmount drew ahead when they made another basket. Koff then scored on a fine shot from well out and after Westmount had made a free throw he repeated, tying the score at ten-all. As the period drew to a close Westmount carried the play into McGill territory and keeping up their attack ran in three baskets making the final score 16-10.

By Saturday's win Westmount have a firm hold on first place in the League standing. They played good basketball and their combination was what was to be expected from men who have worked together for years.

LEAP YEAR LAPSES

The long weeks of rehearsing, are over and, with the exception of the last minute details, all is ready for the curtain to go up for the first time on "Leap Year Lapses," the musical comedy presented by the Junior League of Montreal. The opening performance will be given at The Orpheum tomorrow night and the revue will continue throughout the week until the curtain drops on the final scene Saturday evening. The singers, dancers and musicians have been diligently practising the various numbers which constitute this pot-pourri and from all indications this year's presentation should attain a decided degree of success. Those who constitute the cast, which totals about eighty, are well known and many McGill students will be seen on the boards instead of in the library during the week. Solo dances, vocal solos and duets, instrumental numbers and attractive choruses will all feature in this balance of melody and comedy and executive members of The League planned to present this year's show during the present week in order that undergraduates would be given an excellent opportunity to have the mental cobwebs cleared away before the period claimed by the annual examinations.

The leading feminine roles are being taken by Misses Kathleen Quinn, Helen Hogg, Margaret Taylor, Cecelia Gifford, Nanette Kennedy, Kay Lyall, Audrey Stewart, Nora Hodgson, Mary Chisholm, Elizabeth Shee and Margaret Murray, while the male leads include Ernie Levesurier, W. Harwood, Charles Dupuis and others. Among the McGill men taking part are Graham Gorrie, Gordie Hughes, Desmond Walsh, J. Webster, Charles O'Regan, Grant Glasco, Hal Robinson, Eddie Sherrard and Phil Waite.

It is of interest to note that the proceeds resulting from "Leap Year

DR. ARBUCKLE GUEST OF WESTERN CLUB

Advice to Graduating Students Much Appreciated

On Saturday at one o'clock in the Union Grill Room the Western Club held its first luncheon of the year. The guest-of-honour was Dr. Arbuckle of Vernon, B. C. who has been practising there for the past fifteen years. Jack Cleland, the Club's president presided. There was a good attendance of Westerners including Errol Amaron, President of the Students' Council, who also spoke a few words. The Kappa Alpha four piece orchestra dispensed much appreciated music.

On being introduced, Mr. Arbuckle said that he was glad to get back to McGill after such a long absence. He is now making a stay here renewing old acquaintances and getting view points by coming in contact with the specialists here. Cleland had asked Dr. Arbuckle to give a few words of advice to men about to graduate, and so his talk was along that line. In discussing the problem Dr. Arbuckle said that whether a man went at once in to practice or spent one, two or more years as a houseman in a hospital depended on his personal circumstances. He favoured spending at least one year as an interne but mentioned the fact that many of the best doctors had never spent such an apprenticeship and sooner or later a man gets up against it and must depend on his own initiative when a crisis comes. The great value of an internship is not the chance to do an occasional operation but to see experienced men at work to get to know how they would act in an emergency and their habits of thought.

QUEEN'S-Varsity
FINAL AT McGill

Basketball Constitution
Drawn up With Rotating Schedule

The Intercollegiate basketball committee met on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the Union to draw up next year's schedule and to construct a constitution. The committee decided that in the case of a play off, the game should be played at the third college. This year due to the tie between Varsity and Queen's, the title game will be held at McGill on the date to be published, Tuesday. Henceforth eight men shall constitute a team with unlimited substitution. Until this ruling goes into force, a man was allowed to be changed but once.

A constitution was drawn up which has to be verified by the C. I. A. U. before it may be published. Hitherto, the intercollegiate basketball has not had a constitution and the construction of one may prevent future controversies.

As regards the schedule, the first game will be played next year and every year on the fourth Saturday of January, and the following games will be played on the next five Saturdays. A rotating schedule has been drawn up which will repeat itself every six years. Burgess was present from Varsity; Jones and Haslam from Queen's and Manson, Hayes, and Van Wagner of McGill.

The following executive was elected: Dr. A. S. Lamb—Honorary President. Jones (Queen's)—President. Taylor (Toronto)—Vice-President. McGill—Sec. Treasury.

Lapses' go to the support of the activities which are carried on by The Junior League. Among these are a summer camp for city children, a hospital canteen, a library and sewing classes. Members of the organization also aid in the work of the School for the Blind, the Griffintown Club, the Maternity Hospital, The General Hospital, the Victorian Order of Nurses the S. P. C. A., the University Settlement and other similar institutions. Montreal has the only Junior League in Canada at present and the membership reaching a total in the vicinity of three hundred.

McGILL OUTPLAYS TRI-COLOR SEXTETTE AND ENDS SEASON WITH THRILLING 5-3 VICTORY

Combination and Defense of Red and White Proves Too Much for Queen's—Jerry Reid Turns in Spectacular Exhibition—O'Donnell Carries Off Scoring Honours Accounting for Two Tallies—McGill Scores Twice in First Eight Minutes—Strenuous Game But Few Penalties

On Saturday night, Coach Frank Shaughnessy's puck-chasers brought the Intercollegiate hockey season to a close by defeating the Tricolour squad from Kingston in a game replete with thrills from going to come, by the score of 5-3.

The score about indicates the margin of difference between the two teams and except for a few minutes in the first and again in the last period, McGill had a slight edge on the play but were forced to extend themselves to the limit to take a fall out of the speedy Presbyterians.

From the opening face-off, it was evident that the contest would be a close one and the spectators were kept in a high state of excitement for the sixty minutes of play. Until the dying moments of the last period, the issue was always in doubt as Queen's were showing up well and forced the play for the greater part of the evening.

Five minutes after play got under way, Glennie drew first blood for the Red and White when he notched the first counter on a pass from McGerrigle after breaking through the defence on a neat bit of combination. Exactly three minutes later, Hughie O'Donnell worked his way right through McDonald and Reynolds and beat Quinn from close in. The first session ended 2-0 for McGill and it is worthy of note and out of the first three shots that the Red and White had on the tricolour goal, two tallies were the result. Queens were playing a very checking game and for the greater part of the first session, play centered around the McGill goal and the tricolour forwards bottled up the Red and White wings in their own end slowing up the game to a considerable extent.

Neither team appeared to have struck their stride and a good many passes were missed on account of overanxiousness. Although heavy body checking and strenuous play was in evidence all evening, the game on the whole was clean and the few penalties that were handed out were for minor offences. Referee Smith kept a close eye on the play and few offside escapes his notice but he allowed the players to get away with some rather dubious "accidents" and as a result they took a few more liberties than usual. In all, five penalties were handed out, Queen's taking three and McGill two. In the first period Glennie went off for tripping and in the second McDonald took an enforced rest for the same offence. In the final frame Dineen and Boucher were chased for mixing it up too freely and Smith was penalized for butt-ending Dineen.

Only a small crowd turned out to see the last fixture but those who did were amply rewarded as the game was very exciting and provided a lot of thrills for the spectators.

The Rooter's band was out in force and provided a diversion for the crowd between periods. A good many R. V. C. red tams were also in evidence. McGill outplayed Queen's in the matter of combination and the result made itself apparent in the score, all of the goals being the result directly or indirectly, of the team's collective efforts. Every Red and White player turned in a good game and every man starred. Hughie O'Donnell carried off the scoring honours for the evening, netting two of his team's tallies. McGerrigle's checking was exceptionally and many a tricolour offensive was broken up by this player's tricky sweepcheck. Captain Dempsey, on defense was a stumbling block in the opposing attack his body checking being particularly effective in slowing up the Presbyterian forwards and it was noticeable after the first period that the Queen's wings were rather wary of stopping into the big defense player and they adopted the policy of shooting from far out and coming in fast on the rebounds. Roger McMahon's helpmate showed up well in his rushes and scored one of his team's goals.

Glennie and Dineen played consistently the former's stickhandling being particularly effective. Jerry Reid, the diminutive net guardian turned in a spectacular exhibition and it was largely due to his efforts that the opposing score was kept down. Coming from the intermediates, Reid has made good in senior company and shows up remarkably well in the playoffs. On a good many occasions the tricolour forwards broke through the defense only to be turned aside by the brilliant playing of the Red and White goalie. All the goals against him were earned except one in the second period when Boucher sent a high one winging into the upper corner of the net. It looked as if it were going over and Reid apparently thought so for he ducked and the disc just caught the upper corner.

The Queen's players had lots of speed and in the first period they checked McGill off their feet. The heavy bodychecking of the Red and White defense took the wind out of their sails in the opening stanza and the college defense presented a stone-wall to the tricolour. Reynolds the stalwart defense player, played a flashy game and on a number of occasions broke through only to be foiled by Reid. However his good work had its reward and three minutes before the final gong he worked his way up the ice, came around the McGill net, and slipped the rubber past Reid. Boucher, on left wing turned in a consistent game, his stickhandling being particularly good and he contributed one of his team's tallies. Lindsay, at centre played brilliantly and led the tricolour attack. He was hurt in the first period but came back strong in the second and kept up his good work.

Quinn in goal, was not playing up to form and allowed one or two rather dubious counters. Queen's outshot the Red and White and for the 52 shots that Reid blocked, the tricolour net guardian stopped 21. A great many of the Presbyterians' shots came from outside the defense while the majority of McGill's were from close in.

In the second period the playing was very close and it was not until eighteen minutes of strenuous hockey had elapsed that Boucher sifted one past Reid to put his team one goal behind the Red and White. This count was offset thirty seconds later by O'Donnell who from the face off, combined with McGerrigle in outwitting the tricolour defense and fooling Quinn from close in. The final frame saw the fastest and most exciting hockey of the evening with both aggregations giving their best and keeping the spectators on their toes from bell to bell. It was evident from the start that Queen's were out to stage a comeback and they made a determined rally, twenty minutes of sizzling hockey being the result. After ten minutes of play, they had their reward when on a three man combination which penetrated the McGill defense, Lindsay batted in the puck after an exciting scramble in front of the Red and White net. Brown was hurt in the mix-up and received a sprained ankle. Queen's kept pressing and Reid made a wonderful save when Reynolds broke through. Excitement was at fever pitch and the tricolour were outplaying McGill.

After Smith had been benched for butt-ending Dineen, the Red and White staged an offensive and playing six men against five Dineen tallied following in on his own rebound giving McGill a two goal lead. Roger McMahon increased it to three, forty-five seconds later when he skated from end to end on a pretty rush and sent a hot one past Quinn from right wing. Play was fast and furious with heavy checking and slashing much in evidence and a minute later Reynolds came around the McGill net and sneaked the rubber past Reid for the final goal of the evening. The Presbyterians' combination had greatly improved but the Red and White were playing a three man defense and although Queen's tried desperately to score, they could not get past Dempsey and company and the final gong rang with McGill on the long end of a 5-3 count.

The college sextette deserved its victory, the combination and defensive work of the Red and White being too much for the players from the Limestone City. Queen's have a fast and tricky team and by snatching a victory from their last night, Coach Shaughnessy's proteges showed that they have lots of ability and have the makings of a snappy and efficient aggregation for next year's struggle.

The play by periods:—
1st Period.—
McGill opens an attack on a two man combination and Quinn saves a hard shot from Dempsey's stick. Play is slow with many offside and frequent slowing of the puck. Queen's are checking strenuous and play is mostly in the McGill end. Dineen goes off for O'Donnell. Glennie scores on a pass from McGerrigle in five minutes McGill-1 Queen's-0.

Queen's are outshooting McGill and Reid is stopping them all. O'Donnell breaks away and scores after three minutes, McGill-2 Queen's-0.
The play is fairly even with McGill having a slight edge in combination. Glennie goes off for tripping and Queen's open up an offensive with little result.
2nd Period.—
Play opens with a bang when Reynolds break through and almost scores. McDonald gets a bad fall and game is delayed for a few moments. Boucher goes through but misses an open net. The pace begins to tell on the tricolour men and when McDonald goes off for tripping, McGill opens an offensive. McDonald on again and Boucher scores on a high shot. O'Donnell tallies for McGill in thirty seconds on a combination play with McGerrigle.

McGill-3 Queen's-1.
The spectators show great excitement and period ends with both teams fighting hard.

3rd Period.—
Queen's nearly score from a scramble. Play is strenuous with much slashing and body checking. Game much faster with the tricolour pressing the attack. Dineen and Boucher both go off for mixing it too freely. Lindsay scores from a mix up after ten minutes of play.

McGill-3 Queen's-2.
Pace quickens and the faster hockey of the evening is in evidence. Reid lies across the goal to save and Queen's bombard the McGill net. Smith goes off for butt ending Dineen and Dineen scores.

McGill-4 Queen's-2.
McMahon rushes from face off and tallies from right wing in forty-five seconds.

McGill-5 Queen's-2.
Boucher playing well and getting in some good checking. Reynolds rushes from end to end, skates around the McGill net and beats Reid from the side.

McGill-5 Queen's-3.
Tricolour make desperate attempts to score but McGill play safe with a three man defense. Reid makes phenomenal save just as the final bell rings. Game over.

R.V.C. DEFEAT M.S.P.E. IN LEAGUE GAME

Splendid Combination Shown
By Two Teams
SCORE 2-1

Final Game of the Series on Tuesday Night

The R.V.C. won its third game in the City League on Saturday afternoon on the Hollow Rink when they defeated the speedy M.S.P.E. sextette by the score 2-1. Both teams were in the best condition and very evenly matched so that from the face off the game was closely contested and the deciding tally was made only at the end of the game.

The first period started with a rush, brilliant individual play was a feature. Miss Roberts, the M.S.P.E. center, showed up in her speedy skating and fine stick-handling but was prevented from scoring by the superior checking of the R.V.C. defense. Combination play on the part of the R.V.C. team resulted in the first goal when Miss F. Stocking scored on a pass from Miss D. Hutchison. The period ended 1-0 for R.V.C.

Miss H. Roberts and Miss F. Stocking played spectacular games for their respective teams but no further score was made until near the end of the second period when after a scramble in front of the R.V.C. Miss Kinser scored the puck and scored for the M.S.P.E. This period ended with the score 1-1.

The last part of the game was not as fast as the preceding periods and there was more fumbling and off side play. However, the M.S.P.E. team did not break through the R.V.C. defense and shot from centre but this was not effective as the R.V.C. goal was responsible for any brilliant stops.

Just before the last whistle, Miss Hutchison, in a quick run down the ice, broke through the opposing defense and shot the deciding goal, which gave the victory to R.V.C.

On Tuesday the R.V.C. team will play their last game of the City League when they meet the Y.V.C. This is a strong aggregation of players having already tied a game with the M.S.P.E.

The line up was as follows:

R.V.C.	M.S.P.E.

TORONTO LOSES WATER POLO CHAMPIONSHIP TO McGILL MERMEN

On Saturday night, at the Hart House Tank, the McGill mermen once more successfully defended the Intercollegiate Water Polo championship, thus retaining the coveted trophy for the fifth consecutive year, despite the determined efforts of the Varsity team to wrest it from their grasp. Three weeks ago, McGill decisively defeated the Blue and White team in their Home Tank, by a score of 9-0. On Saturday night, the score was 1-0, thus adding a final score of 10-1, in favour of the Red and White. This championship is awarded to the team obtaining the greatest number of points, and so indisputably belongs to McGill.

The crowd, although small, amply atoned for its deficiency in numbers, by the enthusiastic support accorded the teams. It is possible that there would have been a larger attendance, had the possibility of Toronto's winning been more inviting. The possession of the Toronto supporters was fully justified.

To single out any individual star on the McGill team would be impossible for each man played his best, and knew his position and kept it.

"Jim" Ross, the captain of the team, who played his last intercollegiate game Saturday night, turned in his usual spectacular game, being always in optimum good-humour, and giving a good exhibition of team work, as his combination with Geo. Vernot and Vickerson on the forward line was one of the outstanding features of the game. As usual, Geo. Vernot justified all expectations, displaying his inimitable swimming abilities to advantage, confounding the Varsity mermen with his deadly accuracy in shooting, and adding another crown to his already long list of honours, by scoring the polo goal for old McGill. Vickerson, the other forward, was indispensable to the success of the team, for without his brilliant play, and his aptitude for combining his efforts with those of "Jim" and "Georgie", their combination would have been futile.

The defence-work of Anson and Forsythe was remarkable, and it is due largely to their checking that the Blue and White players were prevented from scoring until the last few seconds of play. Jack Jardine in goal was called upon to bear a strenuous part in the game, and stopped many well directed and vicious shots.

Early in the second period, the Red and White men scored their lone goal from a close-in shot by Vernot. The play was fast from then on, and both teams played with determination and vigour that kept the on-lookers in a state of excitement. As a result of this, it was not until the dying moments of the game that Varsity staged a come-back, when Bore equalled the score by swimming the ball into the McGill net.

Latchford, one of the mainstays of the Varsity team was unable to play on account of a severe indisposition, and his absence was keenly felt by the Varsity team. On the whole the game was featured by fast swimming and close checking rather than long shooting, but where shots were called for the McGill men showed up to advantage, with their unwavering accuracy, and the Varsity goalie had a hot time of it from the opening sprint to the final whistle. The officials kept the game well in hand, and their decisions in general were satisfactory to both teams. The game was remarkable for the paucity of its penalties. The following is the line up:

R. V. C. Sextette Defeat
Queen's in Final Game

The final match of the Women's Intercollegiate Basketball series was played on Saturday afternoon in Kingston. In this event McGill defeated Queen's with a score of 44-29, thus taking second place in the league, Varsity having won the championship by defeating both Queen's and R.V.C.

Although the score was somewhat uneven the game was fast throughout and cleaner basketball was played than in either of the other matches. The Queen's forwards played well. R. Vince was especially outstanding, her shots seldom failing to have effect. The combination was good at times and the whole team fought hard throughout.

The R.V.C. team played a splendid game, their combination being one of the features of the match from the toss-up the team set a fast pace which they maintained throughout.

Queen's opened the scoring on a free-shot by R. Vince in the first few seconds of play. This was followed a few moments later with a basket scored by P. Perry for McGill. For the next few moments the play saw-sawed up and down the field, McGill scoring three field goals, and Queen's two, and three points on free shots, making the score 8-8. The combination of R.V.C. in centre and the interception of their guards was very good. Several free shots were given to both sides. P. Perry, working in combination with C. Fraser and R. Duntun, then scored two more baskets for McGill. With the good combination of R. Duntun, P. Murray finally added two more points to the McGill total, on a well-placed shot. Within the next few minutes the R.V.C. total had mounted to 19. In addition each of the Queen's forwards scored a goal, R. Vince making a spectacular shot from well out in the field. When the whistle was blown the score stood 20-13 in favour of McGill.

Second Period
During this period R. V. C. kept up their fast pace and in a short time had scored three goals, while Queen's scored a free shot. G. Montgomery slipped the ball into the ring and within a short time netted another basket, though not before R.

Tenant: "No, indeed; I was just tolling the bell. We thought you were dead."

"Uncle, can you keep a secret?"
asked little Willie.
"Yes."
"Well, Auntie has eloped with the chauffeur and they borrowed your new car."
